Encouraging them as they lead their families and cultivate a brotherhood within the ministry.

To strive as men to find our identity in Christ and become the husbands, fathers, sons, employees and leaders we are meant to be. To fight against the forces of the enemy and stand with each other to assist and help in the battles/struggles of life. To fellowship with each other and enjoy time together as Christian men. To help and bring others into the fight and stay committed to Christ our Lord and Savior until the end of the mission.

The main objective is to produce men capable of leading their different domains of influence with compassion, strength, and strong convictions.
